NIXON STILL ON THE STAND*MORE EVIDENCE IN SHIP-
BUILDING HEARING.*Testimony Covers Finances and General Affairs of the Corporation—Effort Made to Get at a Mysterious Check.

New York, Oct. 22.—Lewis Nixon occupied the witness chair again today at the hearing of the United States ship-building case and gave much valuable testimony covering finances and general affairs of the corporation. He testified that he had opposed the Sheldon reorganization plan and had as a counter proposition ordered stock to be assessed in order to raise the amount necessary to save the combination from default and bankruptcy. His plan of assessment was opposed by Schwab, holder at that time of $20,000,000 of stock, who, according to Nixon, declared the stockholders would not pay the assessment. Schwab, so Nixon swore, declined to put up any more unless the Bethlehem bonds were given preference to a lien upon shipbuilding plants to first mortgage bonds.

Much time was taken up with an unsuccessful effort to get at the history of a mysterious check for $250,000 found at the Trust Company of the Republic. It was drawn to "Lewis Nixon or ourselves" on the same day checks were made out for payment of cash given to vendors for their plants and property. Nixon swore he had never seen the check before and that he knew nothing of its history. Both sides disclaimed knowledge of its history and destination of the amount of money for which it was drawn.

Nixon testified that he knew early last April that unless the combination could get some money from the Bethlehem property or elsewhere it must fail, and warned his associates on the directorate they must husband resources. It was brought out on cross-examination that the share of promotion profits set aside for Schwab of which Nixon told yesterday, had never been paid.

THE BANKERS

San Francisco, Oct. 22.—The second day's session of the American Bankers' association was made interesting today by the address of William B. Ridgely, controller of the currency, and by the flustering testimonials of the country's prosperity received from delegates of numerous states. Resolutions appropriating $50,000 to the educational bureau and continuing the existence of the fidelity insurance committee for another year was referred to the executive council. Later the council submitted a recommendation that an appropriation of $5,000 be made for the educational bureau.

SMUGGLED JEWELRY CAPTURED.
New York, Oct. 22.—What officials of the customs house declare to be the largest seizure of smuggled goods ever made from an incoming passenger was made today, when diamonds and other jewelry valued at $25,000 were taken from Capt. S. Gelat, retired captain of the French marine service. Gelat was a passenger on the Teutonic. He was arrested and the jewels sent to the public stores. He insisted he was not a smuggler, but he was bringing the stuff here for friends.

HARVESTER COMPANY FAILS.
Peoria, Oct. 22.—The Acme Harvester company, large manufacturers of agricultural implements, has been forced to place its affairs in the hands of a committee representing creditors and ask an extension of time. Assets of the company, it is asserted, are nearly $4,000,000, considerably in excess of liabilities. The company employed 700 men. Reasons assigned for the embarrassment are a bad season, bad collections and doing business that was unwarranted by the capital of the concern.

SORRELLS AND FLYNN ARRESTED.
Peoria, Oct. 22.—Sorrells and Flynn, guards at the Bartonville insane asylum, were arrested today to await the result of the coroner's inquest into the death of inmate Thomas Hartley. Dr. Well, who conducted the post mortem examination on Hartley's body, told the coroner's jury he found six ribs had been broken, the points of two having lacerated the lungs in a horrible manner. Internal organs were crushed in and bruised and there were sixty-six distinct marks of violence on the body.

NOT FAST ENOUGH.
Boston, Oct. 22.—The second-class protected cruiser Denver failed to make the contract speed of 17 knots in the government's trial test today. The Denver averaged 16.2 knots and while tidal corrections will probably be in her favor they will not be sufficient to bring her up to required speed.

ANOTHER BIG FAILUREFirst National Bank of Allegheny Decides to Discontinue Business.

Pittsburg, Oct. 22.—In a statement issued today after a protracted meeting of officers and directors of the clearing house committee Vice President Stoney of the First National bank of Allegheny says its directors have decided to make application to the comptroller of currency to take steps to place the bank in voluntary liquidation.

The reason assigned for the action is because of rumors that the bank was connected with the Federal National, which closed its doors yesterday. Stoney says the reports have created such wide distrust and caused a run on the First National that the officers believe it is their duty to place the bank in liquidation. He says the bank has ample assets to pay all depositors and leave a handsome surplus for shareholders. The First National is one of the largest banking institutions in Allegheny, being organized in 1864; has a capital of $350,000, surplus of $100,000 and undivided profits of $35,000. Deposits Sept. 3 were about $1,000,000.

In accordance with action of the directors the doors of the First National did not open for business today. At nine, the usual hour of opening the bank, a small crowd of depositors gathered in front of the building, but there was no excitement. It is generally believed among bankers and financiers no further trouble will follow. The stock exchange has decided that for the balance of the week no bank or trust stock shall be dealt in.

The application to go into voluntary liquidation cannot be considered by the comptroller of currency until the bank has been officially examined and its condition ascertained. Deputy Comptroller of Currency Lyons is now in charge. He stated as soon as assets are realized depositors will be paid off dollar for dollar.

Le Sueur, Minn., Oct. 22.—The Farmers' and Merchants' bank, a private institution, closed today. Liabilities, $50,000. The bank was not licensed under state laws and had no capital stock.

IN FAVOR OF BISHOP

Belleville, Ill., Oct. 22.—By virtue of the decision of Justice Wangelin, Father Joseph Maszotas must surrender possession of the Lithuanian church property at East St. Louis to Bishop Janssen. The justice decided the bishop's suit of ejectment against the priest in the bishop's favor. Maszotas' attorney took an appeal to the circuit court, thereby assuring the priest possession of the property until Jan. 11. Bishop Janssen removed Father Maszotas July 1, 1903, and ordered him to surrender the church property, which the bishop claimed in fee simple. The priest declined to give up either his charge or the property. The case was fought out in the ecclesiastical courts, finally reaching the papal delegate, Monsignor Falconio at Washington, who decided in favor of the bishop.

Y., Oct. 22.—Arthur Carpenter and Frederick Avery, New York Central railroad trainmen, are under arrest here charged with assault and attempted robbery of Express Messenger Miller in his car while the train was nearing Schenectady today. DISCUSS THE ALASKA AWARD*CANADIANS STILL TALK-
ING OF DECISION.*Mother Country Paid No Attention to Their Protest to the Members of the Tribunal
From the United States.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 22.—The Alaska boundary correspondence was laid before the house today. It consists of messages between the colonial office, Washington and Ottawa. The correspondence shows Canada agreed to submit the question to jurists of repute and protested strongly when Root, Lodge and Turner were appointed by the United States. The colonial office expressed its regrets and then urged acceptance of these gentlemen rather than breaking off of negotiations. Chamberlain asked Canada's consent to this, but apparently without waiting for that consent to be given, Sir Michael Herbert, for England, and Hay, for the United States, signed the treaty. There was nothing for Canada to do then but protest and agree.

In the senate Sir MacKenzie Bowell, discussing the award, said it was unfortunate that in every case when negotiations have taken place between the United States and England where Canada was affected United States diplomats had succeeded in securing islands which command most important points of the dominion. There was the island right opposite the harbor of Port Arthur. In case of difficulty, he said, that island would have to be secured by the British people, for if fortified it would command entrance to that harbor. Unless that was done the United States could secure it and with guns they have at present would be able to destroy the whole connection between the east and west. It was the same with the island of San Juan, another secured by treaty negotiation. "Now," said MacKenzie, "the United States will command Fort Simpson. In every case Canadian interests were sacrificed."

Senator MacMullen said the decision would create as much dissatisfaction in Canada as there was in the Transvaal and in Ireland.

A COMPROMISE.
London, Oct. 22.—Upon leaving Liverpool today A. B. Aylesworth, one of the Canadian commissioners, said in justification of his refusal to sign the award: "It was more of a compromise than judicial decision. Its effect will be that dominion goods traversing the disputed territory must pay high tariff duties to the United States. Canadians feel to keenly on this subject that, although there will be no cry of secession, they probably will demand a large power of self-government in order to prevent a repetition of such decisions."

ARMY MANEUVERS

Fort Riley, Kan., Oct. 22.—As a spectacle to gaze upon the military maneuvers today would be difficult to surpass, but in point of dramatic action they amounted to very little. The entire force in camp was formed into a division under command of Brigadier General Grant and ordered to deploy in line of battle to protect Fort Riley against an imaginary enemy advancing to attack it. All arms of service were out. Thirteen thousand men moving into battle at one time and nearly every man in plain view is something that cannot often be seen in this country and the spectators were enthusiastic in their praise of the maneuver as a thing to look at.

To morrow the problem is to be the weightiest of the entire series, and there will be a weary lot of men in camp to morrow night when the program is concluded.

Lieut. Col. Arthur L. Wagner, acknowledged to be one of the leading military strategists in the world, lectured to night to brigade and staff officers of the division. In his audience was Gen. Ian Hamilton of the British army.

Miller claims as he was a government employee protected by civil service rules, he cannot be denied the compensation. Up to Their Obligations.

Wos Gil upon his election as constitutional president of the republic. Powell in the course of his remarks, referred to the kind wishes of the president and people of the United States for the prosperity of the Dominican republic, adding that if Dominicans desired to maintain this friendship it was necessary for the government of Santo Domingo to live up to its obligations and carry out fully its agreements. Powell pointed out the Washington government did not seek to destroy the autonomy of this republic and was ready in case of necessity to protect its territorial rights, but the United States would not interfere to protect Santo Domingo against its lawful creditors.

President Gil replied that Santo Domingo intended to act in complete accord with its powerful neighbor, and said it was the government's intention to settle all differences amicably. He was subjected to a searching cross-examination by counsel for Bennett's widow and much of the ground covered yesterday was gone over today. Bryan declared neither he or Mrs. Bryan ever suggested to Bennett that he give them $50,000 and that it came as a surprise to them when Bennett made the suggestion himself. Explaining the receipt of $300 from Bennett at the time the will was drawn up, Bryan said nothing was said about it at the time, but he supposed it to be for drawing up the document. "The Land of Unlimited Possibilities."

Berlin, Oct. 22.—"The Land of Unlimited Possibilities," a book written by L. M. Goldberg, privy counsellor of commerce, who visited the United States in 1902, was published today. In the concluding chapter, written after recent events in Wall street, Herr Goldberg says: "The economic giant, America, finds strong roots of its power in the soil of the country, which, after every storm, gives unlimited possibilities for rapid recuperations of high moral forces which live in the American people. They repudiate any and every identification with sharpers and cheats and are struggling steadily toward firmer ground. Everywhere we find nervous energy; everywhere development. Science and art are taking deeper and deeper root, and their independent spirit is linked with sincere admiration for creative labor."

COMPLETE SHUT DOWN

Butte, Ont., Oct. 22.—As the result of a decision to day by District Judge Clancy awarding the Minnie Healy mine, valued at $10,000,000, to F. Augustus Heinze, and then granting an injunction against the Boston and Montana company, principal property of the Amalgamated Copper company in Montana, all properties of the Amalgamated Copper company in Montana were to night ordered closed for an indefinite period. It is estimated at least 15,000 men will be idle and possibly 20,000 before to morrow night. The shutdown is a most complete affair and the most extensive ever known in Montana.

The effects of this shutdown will be felt in all parts of Montana, as there is hardly a county in which the Anaconda company does not operate. Wood choppers and lumbermen will be idle and coal miners will be out of work in half a dozen counties. Much excitement exists in Butte and the town is thronged with idle miners.

Representatives of the Amalgamated company declare that by the decision rendered to day the Amalgamated company is practically wiped out of existence and cannot do business in Montana. The decision, they say, in effect bands the Amalgamated an outlaw.

Heinz issued a statement to night, in which he says the action of the Amalgamated Copper company in ordering a general shutdown has no actual connection with the decision rendered to day and that there has been no change in conditions for over two years.

DAN PATCH
HEADS PACE*A NEW WORLD'S PACING
RECORD.*Clips Three Fourths of a Second
From the Record Held by Prince Alert—Paced a Mile in Fast Time of 1:36½.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 22.—The third day of the harness racing of the Memphis Trapping Association was made memorable by the magnificent performance of Dan Patch in a trial against time. The handsome son of Joe Patchen made a mile in 1:36½, clipping three-fourths of a second from the world's record of 1:37 held by Prince Alert, and lowering his own record by two and three-quarters seconds. The mile was paced without a wind shield and at the finish Dan Patch seemed fresh and vigorous as at the start. The demonstration that greeted the new world's pacing champion as he flashed under the wire was a memorable one. The horse owners who stood about the track before the starter's stand had caught the time with their own watches and before the official time was flashed out across the track they set up a mighty shout and threw their hats and caps high into the air. The shout was caught up by the people and the victory of the new pacing idol was proclaimed in a cheer that rose and fell and reached its climax in a frenzy of noise as Driver M. C. McHenry pulled up before the judges' stand and doffed his hat in acknowledgement of the acclamation.

The trial was made with two runners to set the pace, the sulky preceding the pacer carrying a canvas strip between the wheels. The first quarter was reached in 29 seconds, the half in :58, three-quarters in 1:27½. As the horses swung into the stretch Dan Patch was pushing the forward runner so closely that scarcely a hand breadth intervened between his nose and the back of the driver in the forward sulky.

With exception of the 200 class trot events of the card went to favorites, all in straight heats except the first race, which required a third start. Summaries:

INDIAN CONFERENCE.

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The Indian conference continued its sessions today. Speakers discussed various topics concerning Indians, their religious progress and political status. Archbishop Ryan was one of the principal speakers. He dwelt upon the sanctity of marriage relations and unity of the family and declared that this should be impressed more deeply upon the minds of the people. He said the charge the Catholic church was opposed to the American public school system was false. The Catholic heart is loyal to America, he said, and gloried in the freedom of worship accorded here to all people and in the educational privileges all enjoyed. Catholics had found fault with the public school system only because it had thus far neglected the religious training of children.

THE SYNOD

Large Increase in Funds for Home Missionary Work.

Springfield, Oct. 22.—This morning's session of the Presbyterian synod of Illinois was taken up with mission work. The reports from the different fields showed up very well as a whole and satisfaction was expressed concerning most of the work.

Rev. T. D. Logan, as chairman of the committee on home missions, stated that there was a fair increase all along the line. While some of the Presbyteries did not come up to their work of other years the work of many others was better. The amount given by the synod during the year for home mission churches and schools is $55,820, as against $54,153 last year. The total given for home mission churches was $35,827, against $33,179 on the previous year. The amount given this year for home mission schools fell below that given last year, being $19,993 this year and $20,977 last year. The grand total for home missions given by the synod this year shows $84,086 against $76,448 last year. The number of missionaries reported this year is 104 as against 112 last year.

The report of the woman's home missionary societies was read by Mrs. C. W. Robinson, of Bloomington. She mentioned the Presbyteries of Alton, Bloomington, Cairo and Springfield as having given more towards the work this year than last.

The report of the committee on church erection showed that during the year a larger gain had been made in this line than in any other branch of the work of the synod with the exception of the board of Aid for Colleges and Academies. The latter board gained 300 per cent, while the Church Erection board gained 33-11 per cent. The fund for the Aquidilla church at Porto Rico, for which the synod had pledged $2,000 was reported to be in excellent condition, $1,138 of the amount having been raised. The committee will report on the matter at the next year's synod.

The report of the committee on finance was not given this morning, as per program, but was left over and will be read this afternoon.

Rev. Dr. W. H. Weaver, of Fullerton, Md., was introduced this morning and made an eloquent speech in behalf of the negro and Freedmen's Aid society. His address was interesting and received the hearty approval of the members of the synod. Rev. Mr. Weaver spoke with derision of the exporting of the negroes to Africa or any place. "Statistics show," he said, "that 500 negro babies are born every morning before breakfast. With this rapid increase in numbers all America with all her ingenuity couldn't build ship enough to export the colored race. The remark caused much merriment. It is the opinion of Rev. Mr. Weaver that the way to solve the problem of the colored race is to educate them.

To night an address on home missions was delivered by Mr. John Wilkins Bear, assistant secretary of the home mission board. Dr. S. S. Palmer, of Columbus, Ohio, also spoke.

The members of the synod were invited by Mrs. Richard Yates to a reception this afternoon from 4:30 to 6 at the executive mansion.

S. W. Kerr, a prominent business man of Hurricane, Wis., says, "You cough medicine, Hart's Honey and Horehound, is a good seller and seems sold by Lee P. Allcott, druggist."

ILLINOIS COMMISSION.
The Illinois good roads commission, the appointment of which was authorized by an act of the last general assembly, met in Springfield and organized by electing Hon. D. W. Smith, of that city, assistant president. No secretary was elected, but President Smith was authorized to employ such clerical assistance as is found to be necessary to the transaction of the business of the commission.

The commission is to secure a general survey of the roads of the state, will be a view of ascertaining what means can be employed to better the condition of the highways. It will correspond with the railway and warehouse commissioners and with good roads commissioners in other states for the purpose of securing information on the subject and probably will arrange for a convention of persons interested in the subject.

In addition to Mr. Smith, the members of the commission are Robert B. Clark, president of the Peoria board of trade, and H. U. Wallace, of Chicago, who is connected with the engineering department of the Illinois Central railway.

DANGER IN FALL COLDS.
Fall colds are liable to hang on all winter leaving the seeds of pneumonia, bronchitis or consumption. Foley's Honey and Tar cures quickly and gives permanent results. It is a safe and reliable, tried and tested, sure and sure. Contains no opiates and will not constipate. T. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

BANKER PROSTRATED.

Lockport, Ill., Oct. 22.—Unnerved by the threats of prosecution following the failure of the Exchange State bank, C. H. Bacon, president of the defunct institution, is in a state of physical collapse to day, and physicians declare the shock may prove fatal.

Early to day Bacon was seized with a fainting spell, which was repeated later.

The transfers of realty, made recently by Bacon and his wife, are to be subject of a rigid investigation.

Panic and threats of a mob attack by the impoverished depositors are holding the town in a turmoil.

It was to day announced the assets will amount to but $55,000, while the liabilities are over $140,000. A set of expert accountants are now at work on the books.

All morning long a great crowd of excited depositors have been gathered in front of the bank demanding their money and making threats against Bacon.

PECULIAR CASE OF A BANK.

A bill for an injunction was filed by the State bank of New Berlin against the Warren Boynton State bank in the circuit court at Springfield, charging that the latter bank has been guilty of opening letters coming to the postoffice at New Berlin, which was not intended for them, but was really intended for the plaintiff and were addressed to the "State Bank."

The suit is a peculiar one, as both banks are state banks. In the bill asking for an injunction the complainant states that the State bank of New Berlin was organized in 1903 and that W. S. Warren had previously to this conducted a banking business under his name. He later organized the Warren Boynton State bank and has been claiming all mail coming to the postoffice addressed to "The State Bank." The complainant alleges that mail never came addressed in this manner prior to the organizing of the State bank of New Berlin and that by reason of the defendant bank taking the mail addressed in this manner they have become informed of many secrets of the complainant bank and have taken much business in the way of collections, etc., from the complainant bank. An injunction is asked of the courts.

Mr. C. J. Edmonds, of Lincoln, Ill., traveling solicitor for a large printing house, who is well and favorably known throughout central Illinois, says under date of May 11, 1903: "I have used Hart's Honey and Horehound for the cure of Coughs and Colds in my family for the past two years and have always found the medicine to be all that it is recommended to be. We always keep a bottle of it in the house." Hart's Honey and Horehound is undoubtedly one of the best cough medicines ever compounded. It contains no opium or other stupefying drugs and is the safest in use for small children. Large bottles 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Lee P. Allcott, druggist.

PACIFIC EXPRESS TROUBLE.
From the statements of officials of the Pacific Express company it would appear that the strike of the employees of this system is going to pieces rapidly. Of the nine men who went out on the Illinois lines all have asked to be reinstated and two have been put back at work. The others have not yet been passed upon, but it is likely that all of them will be given their old places.

On the St. Louis and Omaha runs over the Washburn five out of seven men have asked to go back to work and on the Missouri Pacific runs out of St. Louis eleven out of seventeen men have gone back.

The trouble now is on the Iron Mountain, on which there are no indications of a break. On the runs through Arkansas it is difficult to keep men. There has been no violence to the new men and no injury to the company's property. When a new crew comes in the men are not disturbed until they have had time to put their freight away, and then they are quietly told to go back to St. Louis and stay there, and the telling is done in such a way that the injunction is obeyed.

SPENT MORE THAN $1,000.
W. W. Baker, of Plainview, Neb., writes: "My wife suffered from lung trouble for fifteen years. She tried a number of doctors and spent over $1,000 without relief. She became very low and lost all hope. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and thanks to this great remedy it saved her life. She enjoys better health than she has known in ten years." Refuse substitutes. Sold by T. A. Obermeyer, City drug store.

GUARDS HELD.
Peoria, Oct. 22.—The coroner's inquest over the body of Thomas Hartley, the Chicago patient who was killed at the South Bartonville asylum for the insane Monday during a struggle with two guards, E. A. Sorrell and Samuel H. Flynn, returned a verdict finding that Hartley came to his death from injuries sustained at the hands of the attendants and recommended that Sorrell and Flynn be held to await the action of the grand jury. Coroner Harper swore out a warrant for the arrest of the two men on the charge of murder.

BIG PENSION CAMPAIGN

General Black's Plan to Help the Veterans.

A LARGE INCREASE FAVORED.

Grand Army's Chief Declares For One of From $21,000,000 to $30,000,000—Every Veteran $25 to $30 Years Old Without a Pension Who Had Sixty Days' Actual Service to Receive a Stipend.

General John C. Black, the new commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, has begun his administration by declaring in favor of an increase of the pension expenditures of the government that would amount to from $21,000,000 to $30,000,000 a year and would run the total payments up from the present figure of $140,000,000 to $161,000,000 or $170,000,000, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald.

General Black has declared that it will be the policy of the Grand Army of the Republic to fight from now on for a pension for every veteran of the civil war more than sixty-two years old who saw sixty days of actual service and for his widow after him. This means that General Black intends to commit the Grand Army of the Republic to a campaign for the addition of at least 300,000 names to the 1,000,000 already on the pension rolls.

The commissioner of pensions, Mr. Ware, estimates the number of survivors of the civil war who are not now drawing pensions at more than 200,000. He says they may number 225,000. If the proportion of widows to survivors is as great as was the proportion of widows to survivors at the corresponding date after the Mexican war, there are probably a few more than 100,000 widows of civil war veterans who are not now drawing pensions. It is difficult to estimate what proportion of the survivors are sixty-two years old or more, but it is quite probable that enough are of that age to bring the total number of new pensioners, including the widows, up to about 300,000.

The amount that this would add to the annual pension expenditures would depend upon the rate of pension to be allowed. If a service pension law should be enacted it is safe to say that the rate would not be less than $6 a month, or $72 a year. At this rate the addition of 300,000 names to the roll would add $21,600,000 to the annual expenditures.

Advocates of a service pension for the civil war would hardly, however, be contented with such a beggarly gift as $6 a month, especially in view of the fact that the last congress increased the rate of pension for survivors of the Mexican war to $12 a month, or $144 a year. It is certain that congress would not give the survivors of the civil war a service pension of $12 a month.

It is probable that if such a pension should be provided for the rate would be $8 a month. This would involve increasing the pensions of 37,748 pensioners who are now drawing less than $8 a month and would bring the additional expenditures up to approximately $30,000,000.

An idea of how long the civil war pension roll is certain to maintain formidable proportions, whether a service pension law is enacted within the next few years or not, can be based on the fact that there are on the pension roll, fifty-five years after the close of the Mexican war, 5,964 survivors of that war and 7,910 widows, or a total of 13,874 pensioners on account of the little army of 78,718 men that participated in it. At the same ratio there will still be on the pension rolls in 1921, or fifty-five years after the date from which the pension office reckons the close of the civil war, no less than 400,000 pensioners on account of that war.

Some further idea of the longevity of pension rolls may be obtained from the fact that there are now on the rolls, eighty-nine years after the close of the war of 1812, one survivor and 1,135 widows, and, although it is 120 years since the close of the war of the Revolution, there are still on the pension roll two widows of soldiers of that war. In other words, widows of survivors of the civil war in considerable numbers will still be drawing pensions in the year 1986.

Many of the future widows of civil war veterans are little girls in pinafores. Many more of them are being rocked in their cradles. Some of them have not yet been born. It is now thirty-seven years after the official close of the civil war. The younger of the two surviving widows of veterans of the war of the Revolution, Esther S. Damon of Vermont, was not born until 1814, or thirty-one years after the official close of the war. Within the last few years widows of the Revolutionary war have died who were born more than thirty-seven years after the close of the war.

The willingness of girls to marry roll pensioners is proverbial. One of the widows of the Revolution who died during the last year was Nancy Jones, who was born in 1818, or thirty-three years after the close of the war, and who married Darling Jones, a survivor of that war, in 1832, when he was sixty-eight years old and she was sixteen.

In the case of Mary Sneed, another Revolutionary war widow, who died last year, the date of her marriage is not on record, but the disparity between her age and that of her husband was greater than that in the case of Nancy Jones. Benjamin Sneed, the Revolutionary soldier in this case, was 67 years old when his wife was born, and if they were married when she was sixteen he was a gay bridegroom of seventy-two. He died in 1841 at the ripe age of eighty-one years, when his wife was only twenty-five years old.

There comes nothing in every pension list when the number of survivors is at the maximum and when the number of widows is at the maximum. The number of survivors of the civil war was greatest of course immediately after the war. Whether the maximum number of survivors on the pension roll on account of that war has been passed or not will probably depend upon whether a service pension law is enacted within the next few years.

There is no question as to whether the number of widows of soldiers in that war will increase. Judging from the figures for the Mexican war, the number of civil war widows will go on increasing for the next fourteen years at least, as the maximum number of widows of soldiers in the Mexican war was not reached until 1899, or fifty-one years after the close of that war. This would make the number of civil war widows reach the maximum in 1917.

First Cellar in New Orleans.

Extraordinary results have followed the establishment of the new drainage system in New Orleans, in that cellars can now be dug and tall buildings erected, things that were impossible before. The drainage canals are kept clear by constant pumping and are rapidly drying out the soil, not only the surface water from drains, but the soil water as well, while the dampness due to supersaturation of the ground has disappeared. Formerly water could be struck two feet below the surface, but now it is necessary to go down six feet for it. A twelve story addition to one of the large hotels is going up, and the first cellar ever dug in New Orleans will be under it. Only one serious sinkage has occurred, that on a railroad opposite the French market, which was due to a quicksand beneath the bed of the roadway. The general health of the city has been greatly improved.—Iron Age.

Curious Petticoat Test.

Two well known aristocratic women from Vienna, staying at Evian-les-Bains, had an argument as to whether or no a woman who fell into the water in full walking costume would be aided or impeded by her clothes, writes the London Express Geneva correspondent. Argument soon led to dispute and dispute to wager, with the result that the two ladies in smart summer frocks, lace petticoats and picture hats jumped straightway into the water to test their opinions. The onlookers, thinking that they were witnessing a double suicide, dashed off in boats to the rescue. The women, however, declined assistance until they had pluckily swum a considerable distance and were almost drowned by their clinging garments. They both agreed after reaching the shore that skirts are not conducive to easy swimming, while corsets are an impediment.

"I have been troubled for my stomach for the past four years," says D. L. Beach, of Glover Nook farm, Greenfield, Mass. If you have any trouble with your stomach try a box of these tablets. You are certain to be pleased with the result. Price 25 cents. For sale by all druggists.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Jacksonville Citizens Show the Way

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back as the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of diabetes or any kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that they can be cured. Read what a Jacksonville citizen says:

F. A. Kaule, of 803 East Independence avenue, engineer at the Davis & Snyder ice plant on North Main street, says: "After being cured myself by Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Dr. H. Lee Hatch's drug store I recommended them to a friend who was suffering severely and a few days after seeing him almost as well as ever he said 'Doan's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy.' I had such heavy bearing pains in the loins that I could hardly get up and I stooped down to do anything my back felt as if it would almost break before I could get straightened up. Medicine did not do me any good. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended I made up my mind to try them. I experienced a soothing sensation through the loins after the first few doses and in a short time the aches and pains disappeared."

Republican County Ticket.
For Commissioner
LUTHER A. BARR, of Arcadia.

A short time only will elapse before election, which will take place Tuesday, Nov. 3, and it is to the interests of all that the Republican candidate for commissioner should be elected.

Be sure to see to it that your neighbors all go to the polls Tuesday, Nov. 3, and vote for the Republican candidate for county commissioner if you want the best thing for the taxpayers.

Let all remember that they have a duty to perform in the coming election and that is to get out every Republican voter and urge him to cast his ballot for the Republican candidate for county commissioner.

It is wise to be prepared in time. The time coming will be Tuesday, Nov. 3, when the citizens of Morgan county are to elect a commissioner and the one to choose is the man who has been nominated by the Republicans.

Colombia's expenditures last year were 42 per cent greater than its revenue, while its vast amount of paper currency is almost worthless. This is the same government that asks $25,000,000 and a big annuity from the United States for allowing this country to spend $200,000,000 on an isthmian canal.

A CENTURY OLD PROBLEM.
About one hundred years ago the following problem was submitted by one of the puzzle writers of that age:

"When first the marriage knot was tied
Between my wife and me,
My age did her's as far exceed
As 3 times 3 does 3.
But when 7 years and twice 7 years
We man and wife had been,
Her age came then as near to mine
As 8 is to 16."

Those who have been endeavoring to solve the age of a certain estimable lady of whom we have all heard so much will agree with the Chicago Tribune that the wife above referred to was named Ann.

NEW SHORT STORIES

The Rolling Passion.
Ed Gilmore, manager of the New York Academy of Music, said that recently he was in a little hamlet in Pennsylvania and engaged a farmer to drive him over to a certain trout brook some five miles distant. Coming to a fork in the road, the farmer seemed in doubt which direction to take, so he was asked if he knew where he was going.

"Certainly I do," was the answer. "I drove a minister over last week, and he told me a mighty good story. He said that a man went to heaven, and after he had been there a few days he grew so lonesome that he told St. Peter he guessed he'd go down and take a look at the other place."

"But if you go down there you can't get back," said St. Peter.

"Well, I only want to go just to look at the place," said the man, so St. Peter agreed to give him a return pass if he promised to be back along toward night.

"He agreed, took the pass and started off. When he reached his destination the first thing he saw was a party of old friends playing poker, but they wouldn't let him into the game because he admitted that he had no money."

"Well, I'll fix that all right," he said as he left them and wandered off through one of the corridors. Pretty soon he came back and threw a big roll of bills down on the table and demanded chips. They all looked in astonishment at the size of his pile and wanted to know where he got it, saying that they would not play with him unless he told them."

"That's all right," he said. "Give me the chips. I sold my pass."—New York Press.

HAS RESIGNED

An important piece of news to the Odd Fellows of the state is that Hon. Charles F. Mansfield, of Mansfield, first president of the Odd Fellows Old Folks' home board, former noble grand of the Illinois Odd Fellows, and for the past year secretary of the Old Folks' home board, has tendered his resignation as secretary, says the Mattoon Journal.

The reason for Mr. Mansfield's action is that he has become a confirmed invalid. The last time he was in the city it was seen that his health was in a desperate condition. He had just returned from a visit at French Lick Springs and thought that he had been benefited by the waters there.

Later it has developed that Mr. Mansfield is afflicted with lung trouble and it is feared he has consumption.

Charles F. Mansfield has had a brilliant career. He is yet a young man, but he has held the highest places in Odd Fellowship. In addition he has served as state's attorney of Piatt county, making an enviable record, being a lawyer of great ability. In the last few years he has been prominently mentioned as a congressional possibility.

The advisory board of the Illinois Rebekahs is in session at the home. Among the ladies present are: Mrs. Nellie Harris, Chicago; Maude Hayworth, Maroa, and Mrs. Hoefler, Chicago.

The finance committee of the Old Folks' home is also in session. Among those attending that are Fred Merrill of Belleville, James Ewing Davis of Chicago, D. N. Calkins of Chicago, H. Braumuller of Chicago, A. M. Milner of Gibson City and Charles B. Brainard of Peoria.

Dr. Masten has made the treatment of facial blemishes, skin diseases and featural deformities a life study and the results attained through his original methods have astonished the medical profession. He treats all forms of skin troubles from the simplest blackhead to the angriest eczema, and any featural deformity, blemish or wrinkled skin yields to his methods with unfailing satisfaction. His treatments are painless and free from danger. Many cases of humped and depressed noses, outstanding ears, wrinkles and hollow cheeks can be corrected by a process used only by Dr. Masten, whereby the defect is immediately and permanently removed, without the use of the knife. As the doctor's time will be fully occupied, it would be advisable for those desiring to consult him to write to him at his Chicago office, which is located at 48 East Van Buren street, for a special appointment.

COLLEGE OF MUSIC

Second Faculty Recital Given Thursday Evening Before Appreciative Audience.

The second faculty recital of the school year was given by the College of Music in the chapel of the Woman's college Thursday evening by Miss Mabelle Bruner, soprano, Miss Berenice Long, violinist and Miss Pearl Cora Higby, accompanist.

The program was one of unusual excellence and artistically rendered, while the deep appreciation of the large audience was evidenced by their hearty applause. It was a program of pleasing variety and the arrangement showed musical taste.

Miss Bruner won new laurels by her splendid vocal work and Miss Long well sustained the enviable reputation she enjoys by her perfect interpretation of the king of instruments.

The first number was a sustained aria by Gounod and the middle register in which it is written makes strong demands upon the singer. Miss Bruner sang the aria in a faultless manner and with good effect. Her group number also deserves special mention and the second selection combines in the song and accompaniment a beautiful melody. The selection was sung with exquisite expression. The florid style of the Des-sauer composition displayed to fine advantage Miss Bruner's versatile ability as a vocalist and her coloratura work was splendid.

Miss Long delighted the audience with three selections in marked contrast. Her style is peculiarly pleasing and has that finish about it that is indicative of sincere and conscientious study. Her bowing is large and strong and her playing has a brilliant and dash that is not dependent upon physical expression, but comes from a perfectly made tone and clear cut accentuation. Her first number was characterized by brilliant execution and technique and the weird strains of the "Legende" were played with fine spirit and sympathetic appreciation.

As an accompanist Miss Higby showed a pianistic efficiency that contributed in no small degree to the brilliant success of the recital. The program was as follows:

THE MATRIMONIAL RECORD.

VERNON-COOPER.

At Farmingdale Wednesday was celebrated the marriage of Dr. George H. Vernon, of East St. Louis, and Miss Maud Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Cooper, of Bradfordton. The ceremony was performed at the Farmingdale Presbyterian church by Rev. George Flett, the ring service being used. The bride was beautifully gowned in white China silk and carried bride's roses. Dr. and Mrs. Vernon left at 3 o'clock for a wedding trip in the south. They will be at home in East St. Louis. Mrs. Vernon is well known in Jacksonville, having often been a guest at the home of J. A. Goltra.

RABJOHNS-MUEHLHAUSEN.

Thursday evening at the home of Mr. Charles Rabjohns, 612 East College avenue, occurred the marriage of Miss Madgaline Muehlhausen to Alexander Rabjohns. The house decorations were very tastefully arranged in the different rooms, the prevailing colors being green and white and a large quantity of smilax, asparagus and white asters were so used that the effect was very pretty. There were in attendance about fifty guests, relatives, and immediate friends of the bride and groom. At 8 o'clock to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, played by Miss Carrie Spires, the bride and groom came down the stairway unattended and proceeding to the corner of the parlor they were met by Rev. T. H. Marsh and beneath a beautiful canopy made of smilax and white asters the ceremony was performed. During the impressive ceremony, in which the ring service was used, Miss Spires played in soft tones "Love's Id Sweet Song" which was followed by Mendelssohn's wedding march just at the close of the service. After hearty congratulations were extended delightful refreshments were served in the living room.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a white Swiss made with sheer and trimmed with medallions. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. They were the recipients of many beautiful presents from many friends.

Both young people have many friends by whom they are very highly esteemed, the bride being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Muehlhausen, who has always lived in this city. A young lady of many estimable qualities, whose kindly disposition has won for her many true friends.

The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rabjohns and for several years has been employed in the capacity of draughtsman with the Illinois Bridge and Machine company. He is a young man of excellent standing and is known to be industrious and energetic.

They will go to housekeeping at once in a cottage ready for occupancy at 1229 Center street and will be at home to their friends after Nov. 1.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.

Burglars attempted an entrance to the residence of J. E. Hayden, at 407 East North street about 3 o'clock Thursday morning. Mrs. Hayden was awakened about that time by a noise at the side door and after listening could distinctly hear some one working with the door. She aroused her husband, but the culprits heard the noise inside and fled. Later in the morning Mr. Hayden found on looking into his shed that a number of tools had been taken and also a little dog which had been chained in his box on the porch.

IS EASILY CONTAGIOUS

Horses Infected by Glanders in Drinking From Water Troughs.

The horse-owning public of Jacksonville and vicinity is warned against the danger of their animals contracting glanders, the worst disease known to horse flesh, from allowing them to drink at public watering troughs. Horsemen and veterinarians who have been studying the matter for a couple of years have come to the almost indisputable conclusion that a number of cases of glanders which caused the death of horses in this city or county could be traced directly to infection at one of the street troughs or watering bowls, where horses of all kinds have free access.

Glanders, as all horsemen know, is a very highly contagious disease. Its chief symptoms, after it has reached an advanced stage, is a discharge from the animal's nose and a swelling of the glands of the throat and neck. The horse may suffer a long time with the disease in a semi-dominant stage before these symptoms appear, and after they become pronounced there is practically no use of further treatment, as death will result eventually and the horse might as well be killed at once. The disease is communicated mainly by a healthy horse coming in contact with the discharge from a diseased animal's nose. This is what makes the public watering trough the chief means of transmitting the disease. Discharge from a diseased horse which drinks at such a place may be lodged on the edge of the basin, or even left in the water itself, which being drunk by the next animal to approach the trough, goes directly into the system of the latter. The gastric secretions are a deadly foe to the germ of glanders, but where a large quantity of water is drunk there is always danger of the infection being carried on into the intestines, where it gets in its deadly work. There is of course nothing in the water itself to cause danger to horses, except as it receives particles discharged from other diseased animals.

AT THE GRAND.

"Slaves of the Mine," which comes to the Grand next Monday, Oct. 26, tells an every-day story flavoring of the soil of the locality in which its scenes are laid, with characters drawn from life, and comedy galore. It is the latest and most successful play dealing with the subject handled. It is skillfully constructed, contains bright and witty dialogue, strong complications, and dramatic scenes of great strength. The authors, C. E. Callahan, who wrote "The Parish Priest," and C. E. Callahan, who is credited with writing "A Romance of Coon Hollow," have injected the same flavor in their latest play as is to be found in their older successes. Special new scenery by James Fox, of New York, the Eagle quartet and a carefully selected metropolitan cast insure a finished performance that will be worthy of liberal patronage. Special prices 25c, 35c and 50c.

GRIGGSVILLE FAIR.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Illinois Valley Fair association was held recently and was largely attended. Reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and approved, and the regular routine of business transacted. It was found that after paying all premiums in full and other expenses, and repairing the damage of the storm, the treasury had been overdrawn $25, whereas, had it not been for the storm, the association would have come out with a neat little sum to the good. But little change was made in the officers. Following are the new officers elected: George Carnes, president; Wm. Dunham, first vice president; N. Dunham, second vice president; Will Connors, secretary; John S. Felmley, treasurer; A. P. Ferguson, C. M. Simmons, L. C. Butler, Wm. Harvey, N. Hainsfurther, F. Strauss, E. Doocy, S. E. Dunham, D. Ingalls, directors.

JUSTICE COURTS.

In 'Squire Coons' court Nellie Doyle was held for disorderly conduct and found guilty and a fine of $50 and costs was assessed against her. Unable to make payment she was remanded to the county jail to serve a sentence of twelve days, this being a state case.

As inmates of same Thomas Staller, Florence Peaker and Warren Cotter were each fined $10 and costs. Noah Foster was drunk and fined $5 and costs. Fannie Black was found guilty of using profane language and paid $3 and costs.

"THE GALLEY SLAVE."

The Grace Hayward company presented "The Galley Slave" at the Grand last night. The audience was a large one and enthusiastic throughout the five acts. The play is a melodrama and tells a very thrilling story, which maintains the interest from start to last. This company of players is proving more popular each season and they are giving entire satisfaction during their present engagement.

SPORTING WORLD

Harvard's Great Quarter Back, Captain Marshall, the brilliant quarter back of the Harvard football team, has been very fortunate in getting a considerable percentage of last year's players to return this season.

There are only two quarter backs to-day who are the equal of the stocky Harvard captain. These two are Daly of West Point, the former crimson captain, and Rockwell of Yale. In one respect Marshall is superior to Daly, and that is in running. If he once gets past the opposing line it will take a ten second sprinter to stop him.

MARSHALL, HARVARD'S QUARTER BACK CAPTAIN.

This great little player possesses the advantage of being both captain and quarter back and thus does not have to depend upon another man to run his team for him. He is destined to become famous in football history.

Limit of the Trotting Record.

Professor William H. Brewer of Yale university says that the American trotting horse will trot a mile in 1:50. He will never make better time than that, and it may take fifty years for him to reach that speed.

Continuing, the professor goes on: "As a professor of agriculture in the Sheffield Scientific school I have every year delivered a series of lectures to my classes on 'Breeding.' In this connection I have been particularly interested in horses, and as far back as 1886 I began to make tables of the records of trotting horses and collect all the data possible on this subject.

"About ten years later, when I had accumulated considerable material along this line, I told my pupils one day that breeding was sure to develop the 2:00 trotter and that, according to the mathematical curve I had drawn, he should appear some time during the earlier portion of the twentieth century."

Motor Cycle Versus Auto Records.

The motor cycle is still away ahead of the automobile in the matter of long distance track time records. The twenty-four-hour figure is now 701 miles 1,330 yards, scored recently by A. A. Hanson at Garfield park, Chicago, in 20 hours and 58 minutes of actual riding. The motor cycle is also ahead of the automobile in track speed. Albert Champion recently covered a mile with a Clement motor cycle on a circular track at Charles River park, Boston, in 55.25 seconds as against Barney Oldfield's world's track automobile record of 55.45 seconds, scored at the Empire City course.

Professional Golf Matches.

Professional matches similar to that between Willie Anderson and Bernard Nichols against Alec Smith and Willie Norton recently at Deal Beach, N. J., for purses subscribed by club members are popular abroad and should be more frequent in this country. Such remarkable exhibitions of skill by the notable performers of the day, entirely aside from the result of the contest, are of immense educational value to the rank and file of club members, as indicative of correct form regarding strokes and possibilities of distance, approaching and putting.

Auto Track For Paris.

Parisians are about to build a great automobile course on the plain of Brou, which will be within a half-hour's ride of the boulevards of the city. Its promoter is M. Lecomte, and M. Dubaud has already completed the plans, which have just reached here. It will be a kite shaped course of 7,000 meters and have a 2,200 meter straightaway traversing it, which will give 600 meters leeway at each end of the kilometer stretch for starting and stopping.

Lou Dillon.

When Lou Dillon lowered the high wheel sulky record to 2:05 she was down to the three-quarter pole only half a second faster than Maudie. The latter trotted her fourth quarter in 33.4 seconds, while the present queen came home in just 30 seconds.

World's Fastest Trotter.

W. A. Whitcraft of Cambridge, O., has reported the flight of a homebred pinto to this city from Wichita, Kan., in 21 days, 2 hours and 30 minutes. The distance is 1,000 miles, and the time is claimed to be a new world's record.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

An Amusing and Puzzling Mathematical Game.

My mother amused all her children with this puzzle. It was a never failing source of entertainment and a delightful mystery, but if she had told us the secret it would have lost its charm:

"Think of a number."

"Perhaps I would think 'Four.'"

"Double it."

"I thought, but did not say, 'Eight.'"

"Perhaps she would say, 'Add six to it.'"

"Fourteen."

"Divide it by two."

"Seven."

"Take away the first number you thought of and the remainder will be three."

Sure enough, four from seven does leave three. But I was very much puzzled to know how she knew, for the whole process had been silent on my part. I nearly always said:

"Let's try it again, mamma."

Suppose I chose 1,000.

"Now double it," she would say, as before.

"Two thousand," I would say quickly.

"Add ten to it," would be the next command.

"Two thousand and ten." That was not hard.

"Divide by two."

"One thousand and five!" I would cry, glad that I had chosen an easy number.

"Take away the first number you thought of and the remainder will be five."

One might think of ten, another of seven and I of six. The result would be the same.

I asked her once what the number that I had thought of was and was surprised that she did not know. But I learned when I was older that the remainder was always half of the number added.

A Polite Little Girl.

There was a little girl at a large hotel in a summer resort who had most elegant and amusing manners. She was very young and very pretty and had picked up many odd expressions, not always using them wisely or correctly. One day in passing her on the stairs a lady accidentally trod on her toe. "I beg your pardon, Helen," said the lady, whereupon the wee sufferer replied, with a smile:

"None of your business, Mrs. Jones."

"What do you mean?" exclaimed the astonished lady.

"I mean that you did not hurt me—much," answered the unconscious child, nodding complacently. It was so funny and sweet that Mrs. Jones did not correcting.

Glad to Reach the Turn.

"How old are you, my little man?" asked the minister of a small boy who was celebrating his birthday.

"I'm four years old," replied the youngster, "and I'm mighty glad of it too. I was gettin' awful tired of bein' three all the time."

Wise Charlie.

"Oh, Charlie, brother, run at once and tell that man to stop! Why, look, the water from his cart is spilling, every drop!"

"And yet (oh, what a stupid man!) He does not seem to care. He never even looks behind. But drops it everywhere!"

Said Charlie: "Now, Louise, dear, You are a little goose. The water in that funny pipe is for, no other use."

Lather Before Shave.

Margie had often watched her father shave himself, and one day when an old colored man came to whitewash the back fence she looked on in silent contemplation for a few minutes and then asked:

"Say, mister man, is you goin' to shave ze fence's whiskers off?"

Was Prepared.

"Tommy (mysteriously)—I shall have lots of cake all for myself."

Mother—Oh! Has auntie promised you some?

Tommy (with withering scorn)—No; I've planted seed cake in the garden.

Mother's Boys.

The children sat in the fading light building their castles with keen delight. Said fearless Fred: "I mean to be a sailor brave on the deep blue sea."

Said roguish Phil, with a twinkling eye, "I'll be a soldier by and by."

"And I'll be a lawyer," said noisy Joe. "And I'll climb to the judge's bench, I know."

Said thoughtful John, in a timid voice: "To preach, I think, would be my choice."

But never a word said the family pet. As he sat in the midst of the noisy set.

"And what will my Charlie be?" I said. He lifted his head, curly head.

And looked at me with his bright blue eyes. "I'll be my mother's boy!" he cries.

And I pray, as all shall take their place, On land or sea, in life's great race, That their loyal hearts may still rejoice, Though near or far, to be my mother's boys.—Washington Star.

FOR THE CHILDREN

FOR EDWIN ABBEY.

In the days when Edwin A. Abbey was a small boy he had the habit of critically scrutinizing every dish that was set before him at the table, much to the embarrassment of his family. His frequent dismissals from the table were un-actual, and something had to be done to work a cure, says the Ladies' Home Journal.

"Eddie," said his mother one day, "I heard thee speak about going to Cousin Martha's for dinner next Sunday, and I am afraid we will have to make thee stay at home until thee learns politeness at the table. Thy picking at food would mortify me."

This threatened deprivation reduced the boy to tears, and after he had solemnly promised not to look at everything according to his habit he was told that he might go.

The day came, and a large and merry family gathered to do justice to a tempting meal. Each of the little folks had a glass of delicious rich country milk at his place.

Noticing that Edwin was surreptitiously glancing at his glass, Mrs. Abbey observed with a well understood meaning, "Edwin, why is thee not drinking thy milk?"

With a determined air the boy hastily picked up the glass and, shutting his eyes as tight as possible, gulped its contents down.

This sudden procedure attracted the attention of all the guests, and, fearing at least a severe scolding, the boy exclaimed: "I did it, mother. I—I swallowed it."

"Swallowed what?" hurriedly asked Mrs. Abbey, now more alarmed than amused.

"Those two flies that got in my milk, but I swallowed them, mother; I swallowed them."

A Trick With Figures.

Ask a friend to put down four figures which you are not supposed to see. Let him add these up and subtract the sum from the original figures. Then let him strike out any figure in the result and tell you the sum of the remaining figures. You can instantly tell him what figure he struck out. The modulus operandi is easy and depends on the esoteric qualities of 9. He puts down, say, 7,428. Add up these figures—21, which subtract and get 7,407. Cross out, say, 7. This leaves the sum of the remaining figures 11, which he announces. Mentally subtract 11 from the next highest multiple of 9, which is 18, and you get 7, which was the figure crossed out.

Ellen Terry's Toe.

When Ellen Terry was a little girl about ten years old she played Puck in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and had to make her appearance through the stage floor on a trap door. The trap door was shut too soon, and one of the child's feet was caught. She screamed with pain, and Mrs. Charles Kean whispered to her: "Be a brave girl, Nellie. Finish your part, and you shall play Arthur in 'King John.'" The trap door by this time was opened, but the child's toe was broken. She, however, pluckily pulled herself together and finished her speech.—Exchange.

Why Chinese Ride Women's Bicycles.

The first bicycle dealers who tried to sell wheels to the Chinese were surprised to find that there was a big and ready demand for women's wheels, but particularly none for men's wheels. Yet none of the bicycle drummers could readily have seen many women, if any, riding the machines. The mystery was explained finally when it was learned that the Chinese men preferred the women's wheels because the skirts that form part of their costumes made it difficult to straddle the diamond frame of the men's wheels.

England's Rhymed Calendar.

England has many old adages, but none more popular than the following:

"Monday's child is fair of face,
Tuesday's child is full of grace,
Wednesday's child is full of woe,
Thursday's child has far to go,
Friday's child is loving and giving,
Saturday's child has work to do,
But the child that is born on the Sabbath day
Is bonny and bright and good and gay."

Lather Before Shave.

Margie had often watched her father shave himself, and one day when an old colored man came to whitewash the back fence she looked on in silent contemplation for a few minutes and then asked:

"Say, mister man, is you goin' to shave ze fence's whiskers off?"

Was Prepared.

WOMAN AND FASHION

THE PARIS WALKING HAT.

For wear with tailor made suits this walking hat designed by Marthe, Paris, will prove an almost universally becoming model. As here shown, it is

THE PARIS WALKING HAT.

In brown velvet, sharply turned up at both sides, with grebe plumes in a lighter shade of brown relieved with white, these meeting at the back, where the hat, like all of this season's shapes, sets closely to the head.

The Yoke Collar.

A feature to be brought prominently forward for winter is the yoke collar, which is a collar so deep as to form a yoke. This is cut out of heavy material so as to keep its stiffness and shape, and it is made with points that fall over the shoulders; not floppy points, but small, neat ones that fit the shoulders well.

There are very pretty yoke collars which are cut with deep pieces at front and back and shoulder projections. The front extends down in a long piece, which comes to the belt, making a sort of plastron front.

It is very smart to trim the yoke collar with a few large pearl buttons and to stitch it around the edge, but there should be no other trimming. Others are embroidered in white around the shoulders and down the front, with deep cuffs to match.

A Winter Hat.

One of the white winter hats is round and has a retousse brim and a medium crown. The latter and a part of the brim are of soft fleecy beaver as fluffy as swansdown. The edge of the brim for about three inches is of smooth, silky beaver further stiffened by rows of stitching. This hat is trimmed with black velvet around the crown, a piece of it going down over the brim and forming a bow near the hair in the back. In the front are two wafer-like ornaments fashioned of white plisse chiffon.

Cheeks Will Be Popular.

Cheeks will be worn through the fall and winter, some of them almost imperceptible and perhaps better described as shepherd's plaid, in light tweeds. The tailors will again endeavor to bring in a severe style, but they are trimming their plain cloths with rather brilliant plaid effects. They will also use taffeta and kid as trimmings and quaint ornaments of silken fringe and taffeta and velvet bobs.

An Up to Date Blouse.

The illustration shows a model for blouse of white flannel or albatross.

DRIPPING SHOULDERS.

The epaulet effect on shoulders is particularly good, giving the drooping line so much desired.

Passing of the Baggy Front.

The day of the baggy blouse front is long since past, for no matter how full the bust may be, the waist must not sag over the belt. On the contrary, the belt is a very neat article of dress and holds the waist snug and firm. The fulness is all above the belt line, and the effect must be that of a full figure rather than a baggy, slouchy one.

Ventriloquial Fowls.

M. Emile Merwert, secretary general of French Guiana, has sent to the Jardin des Plantes in Paris two pairs of ventriloquial fowls. These birds are greatly amusing visitors to the gardens who assemble round their cage by their cries, which at one time appear to come from the trees, at others from the sky and sometimes from the midst of the crowd itself. The flesh of the birds is said to be more savory than that of pheasants or the finest guinea fowls, and their eggs are in great favor among American epicures. The Empress Josephine tried to acclimatize the species in the Malmaison aviary, but without success.

Heating the Tropics.

The desire to get business causes some European firms to make ridiculous blunders. One of these, as related by a correspondent in Trinidad, is a good example. A maker of stoves and other apparatus for heating and warming purposes has been sending illustrated catalogues in quantities to that tropical climate, and the persisting inhabitants have been reading about the ease with which you can be kept warm if you adopt these stoves and have been wondering why the enterprising manufacturer did not include a leaflet on skates and skating for their especial benefit.

Pneumonia.

Pneumonia (lung fever) having become of late years the most deadly disease of all ages, general intelligence in regard to its cause and what may be done to avoid it are desirable. The disease depends upon a specific vegetable organism, which, being at all times present in thickly populated districts, grows rapidly in the air passages of the individual if his vitality is suddenly depressed. In these particulars the bacillus of pneumonia resembles that of consumption, but its multiplication is much more rapid and the poisoning from its excretions much more acute. The danger of pneumonia may be lessened by keeping the air passages clear of mucus, by avoiding chill and fatigue, by good ventilation and absence from crowded and overheated rooms.

Ledford Won From Luttrell in Yesterday's Contest.

The finals in the Country club golf championship were played Thursday afternoon between F. L. Ledford and Green Luttrell and the former won by 3 up and 1 to play. It was a poor day for golf playing and the wind in a number of instances interfered with the accuracy of the drives.

Mr. Ledford will now play Marcy Osborne, the holder of the championship cup and this contest will no doubt attract a large gallery. Necessarily during the season's play many obligations and debts have been contracted by the players and as golf is the gentlemen's game these are considered debts of honor. A unique manner of paying these obligations was hit upon by one of the most resourceful of the golf club's members Thursday afternoon and his example is worthy of emulation. The receipt contains only one ingredient, that of condescension and as one of the cardinal rules of the game is that a player must win modestly, lose serenely and keep one's temper the transformation from a candidate for championship honors to a caddy is not as great as might be supposed. Those who do not find this explanation lucid will do well to consult Charles Sanders, whose well known laconic talents will doubtless be able to reduce the above to its lowest terms.

HELD A SHOOT.

The sportsmen in Morgan county held a shoot at the West Side park Thursday and the high wind made the shooting very difficult. The following were the scores made: Scott, 90; Masters, 90; Morris, 85; Killam, 84; Groves, 84; Craig, 82; A. Jewsbury, 81; F. Jewsbury, 81; Magill, 78; Engelbrecht, 72. In the tie shoot off by Masters and Scott at 25 birds, Scott won by a clean score. Another shoot will be held next week and if any word can be had from Mason City for a match the team will be selected at that time.

AT LIBERTY HALL.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Church of Our Savior gave a very pleasant euchre party at Liberty hall Thursday evening, which was enjoyed by the large number present. Prizes of handsome design were awarded the successful players.

"IDEAL" COAL

The excellence of this fuel is proved by the large number of coal users who would rather have "Ideal" than any other.

Best way to understand this is to send us an order—for a bushel at $12 cents, or a ton at $3.00. "The proof of the pudding" is the way the pudding's cooked. "Ideal" coal proves the pudding—every time. Makes cook cheerful. Costs but little. Wood fires will be acceptable during these damp, chilly evenings and mornings.

POSTOFFICE SITE

Senator Cullom Reported to be Taking Interest in Local Building Lot.

A Globe Democrat's special dispatch from Washington says:

"Since the arrival in the city of Senator Cullom, of Illinois, he has interested himself in the settlement of the controversy over the site for the public building at Jacksonville, Ill. It appears that while the whole matter was thoroughly threshed out some months ago and a definite decision made by the treasury department as to the site, the department has not been successful since in securing a title to the land.

"Now, Senator Cullom, although proceeding quietly, is understood to be urging the officials of the department to reject the site selected and take the other one offered, and to which a clear title can be secured, without difficulty. Treasury officials will not indicate what their course will be. They seem to realize that there is more or less state politics mixed up in the site. The town is the home of Governor Yates, and it is said here that when the lines were being closely drawn between the friends of Cullom and the friends of Yates and Hopkins, the fight was even carried into the really non-partisan question of where the public building was to be located.

"The rival factions each offered sites which were admirably located in relation to the business portion of the town and their accessibility. After numerous attempts to get the people of the town, or those interested to make the choice, the department was finally forced to take action which was construed at the time as in favor of the friends of Senator Hopkins. Ever since that time the officials of the government have been trying to get a proper title, as required under the laws of congress.

"In this they have not been successful as a series of events have conspired to prevent it. At this stage of the matter Senator Cullom takes a hand again, and suggests the desirability of turning to the site which he urged originally."

The above was shown to Mr. Thomas Worthington and he stated that he knew nothing in regard to it except that all papers in the case have been in the hands of the attorney general for several months and that the site cannot be purchased without an affirmative opinion from the attorney general as to the validity of title.

Very Rev. Dean Crowe was seen at Our Savior's hospital last night and was asked if he had any information on the subject. Fr. Crowe said:

"I have been sick for several months and have paid no attention to the matter, on the supposition that it was all settled. The title was declared good by competent local attorneys and the papers were then sent to Washington. I do not think that there is much truth in the dispatch, and at any rate I am not worried about any change of site being made."

Beecham's Pills

James Zachary returned Thursday from Louisville, Ky., where he had an experience, the memory of which will put him ever on his guard when traveling. While waiting at the Louisville station for the train on his way home he was engaged in conversation by a man who assumed a friendly manner saying he also was waiting for the train and suggested they take a walk, to which Mr. Zachary agreed.

HELD THE STAKES.

They had not gone very far until the former met a friend, who suggested they enter a nearby billiard hall. It was not long until Mr. Zachary's new made friends were engaged in a dice game with the latter as stake holder. Finally the stakes became so high that the players demanded of the stakeholder a signed statement that he would not unexpectedly decamp with the money, which was given.

The sequence of the game became more apparent Thursday morning when a sight draft from Louisville arrived at the Ayers National bank of this city calling for $250 drawn against Mr. Zachary. He was at once notified and payment was of course refused.

CURED BY TOBACCO.

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 22.—W. F. Wolf, a farmer near Stone Station, who has been dumb for two years, is now able to carry on a conversation as the result of chewing tobacco for several hours.

Two years ago, last June, Wolf was struck by lightning and from that time on until last Sunday he had not been able to utter a sound. Physicians said his vocal organs were permanently paralyzed.

Last Saturday night Wolf dreamed that if he took a chew of tobacco he would be able to speak again. When he awoke in the morning he told of dream by writing.

In a joking way he was told to try it. Wolf did not regard it as a joke and took a chew. He had been an habitual user of the weed before the accident which deprived him of his speech, but afterward the habit became annoying to him and made him sick. A few hours after he had taken the tobacco he was able to make slight vocal sounds, and continued chewing, soon being able to talk.

STOLE LOCOMOTIVE.

Milwaukee, Oct. 22.—At 11 o'clock to night six men stole a locomotive from the gravel pits near Beloit and started south at full speed. As soon as the Janesville office of the Northwestern Railroad company was notified train dispatchers stopped every train between Janesville and Calandonia, Ill. Officers are in pursuit of the fugitives and the runaway engine.
